Students Make A Commitment to Achievement for a New Year

Carol Nord

Dear Friends of Nativity Academy,

Each year in preparation for the opening of school, our staff participates in a variety of workshops, retreats and professional development activities. Utilizing the few weeks prior to the start of the school year, allows our staff to study and reflect together as a professional learning community.

This year, we were invited to attend a special day of reflection with the Faculty and Staff of St. X High School. Listening to Brother Paul Feeney share the brothers' history and charisma during their travels from Bruges, Belgium to Louisville was inspiring. Congratulations to the St. Xavier community as they begin the awesome celebration of 150 years in Louisville!

The Xaverian sponsorship of Nativity Academy at St. Boniface is a natural fit for the order. The motto of the congregation "In harmony all things grow" and the theme for the school year at St. Xavier "All with God, Nothing without God" are so fitting for the mission of the work at Nativity Academy. Serving the disenfranchised has always been important work for the order. Thus, it is fitting that Xaverian Brothers (1860–1872) and our other sponsors, the Ursuline Sisters (1898–1967), ministered to young people in the same building we now occupy back when it was St. Boniface Parish School. Carrying on the early legacies of these extraordinary congregations is part of our mission. We truly stand on the shoulders of the holy and dedicated servants who have come before us.

The same week as the St. Xavier event, we had the opportunity to join with all of the Catholic Elementary/Middle Schools in the Archdiocese in a special liturgy with Archbishop Joseph Kurtz at St. Peter the Apostle Church. What an awesome experience: to gather with all of the teachers and administrators as one body to celebrate the opening of the school year. In his homily, Archbishop Kurtz thanked those involved in the important ministry of educating our young people in the faith-based environment. He challenged us to "open the doors of faith" to all of those we work with on a daily basis.

As Archbishop Kurtz challenged us to do our best for our students, so have we challenged ourselves. Our board, faculty and staff spent much time and thought last year planning for the future with our newly approved Strategic Plan. We also conducted a thorough review of our mission, and approved a clear, concise statement that reflects the goals and work of Nativity Academy. We are excited to share our new mission with you:

Nativity Academy is an independent Catholic middle School that transforms the lives of students who have a commitment to achievement and whose families demonstrate financial need.

Nativity Academy has had an exciting spring and summer of success in many areas: we know you'll be as excited to read about them as we are to share them.

School:

- 100% of our seniors graduated high school
- Currently serving 126 students at the high school and college age as our Graduate Support Program continues to flourish
- Teacher Misty Brady selected as the recipient of the “Irene Casey Inclusion Award” – only one teacher in the Archdiocese selected each year.

Development: (see below for additional details)

- Wrote and successfully received funding for several grants, many of them new
- Hosted most successful Nativity Nibbler fundraiser yet ($1.93 on the dollar went directly to our students!)
- Carefully stewarded our finances, and increased our budget

It’s happening here because of the leadership of our fabulous Board of Directors! It’s happening here because of our incredibly dedicated Faculty and Staff! It’s happening here because of our extremely generous Student Sponsors and Donors! It’s happening here because of our talented and giving volunteers!

It truly is an exciting time to be a part of the Nativity Academy community! I hope each of you can join us in whatever way possible to ensure that it continues to keep “happening here”!

EDP (Extended Day Program)

Extended Day Program offers our students art activities for personal expression and creative development.

New Program Offering: “GirlPress”!

Thanks to an “Arts Meets Activism” grant from the Kentucky Foundation for Women, a new after-school program is being offered to girls at Nativity Academy at St. Boniface.

Carrie Neumayer, an experienced local art teacher, is facilitating a new program called “GirlPress”, designed to engage girls in exploring depictions of females in the media. The work will address misconceptions and stereotypes, promote creative participation in local media, and encourage girls in the group to find ways to make their own voices heard in our community.

During the program, the girls will make their own “zines”, and help create a website to voice their opinions about women and girls in media.

“GirlPress” sessions will be co-facilitated by Erin Fitzgerald from Beargrass Media Club, who will bring audio and video components to the project. This is a fabulous, empowering new opportunity for our female students!

Development News

Nativity’s Development team: Carol Nord, Jeri Johnson and Brooke Burnette

We recently wrapped up a high-energy, successful year at Nativity Academy and started out 2013/2014 with a bang!

With news that we are first-time recipients of grants from Brown Foundation, Metro External Agency Fund, and Kosair Charities, we are looking forward to more great development news in the coming months!

We are also celebrating this year’s renewed support from Brown-Forman and The Gheens Foundation– wonderful partnerships that Nativity Academy deeply appreciates. With new and renewing Student Sponsors for this year and a slew of exciting events, this is going to be our best year yet!

Our mission says it best: Nativity Academy is an independent middle school that transforms the lives of students who have a commitment to achievement and whose families demonstrate financial need. It is more than our mission – it is our passion and has been our daily work since 2003, when we were established. Daily, we challenge our students to reach their full potential academically, spiritually and socially so they may grow to be responsible, caring and active leaders in their communities.

With 69 students currently enrolled at Nativity Academy and another 126 in high school and college, we have our work cut out for us! We are able to help these students plan for and navigate their futures because of you and your gifts. None of it is possible without you, and we appreciate each of you deeply.

Thank you.

EAGLE

Youth Success

Nativity Academy Students attend Eagle U

This summer, six of Nativity Academy's graduates applied for and were accepted with scholarships to attend Eagle U., a highly-regarded summer program brought to Louisville by the Mortenson Charitable Foundation.

Held on the University of Louisville campus, Eagle U. is an application-based, week-long program that guides participants to learn how to build confidence, develop personal success strategies, engage in networking, mentorship, and life application.

Our students raved about what they learned and felt a renewed sense of purpose and direction upon completing the course.

"Back to School" Graduate Support Party

The "Back to School!" Graduate Support party was held at the home of Nativity's Executive Director Carol Nord, where she hosted a group of Nativity Academy's graduates to swim, reconnect, and enjoy a homemade meal with friends. With wonderful weather and lots to share, it was a great event!

Nativity 2013 Golf Scramble

Thanks to boice.net and to all our hole sponsors!

Nativity Academy just hosted our most highly-attended Golf Scramble to date! With gorgeous (hot!) weather, fantastic teams, and a wonderful location at Quail Chase Country Club, a terrific time was had by all. Especially Kevin Fallahay, winner of this year's Shoot-out for a week at a beautiful Marco Island Condo!

A big thanks to our Gold and Silver sponsors: Boice.net, Air Hydro Power, Gerald Ditsler Insurance Agency Nationwide®, and ISCO, and all of our many hole sponsors!
