

Do you love impacting the lives of children?

Nativity Academy at St. Boniface is looking for math, science and religion teachers who are committed to the transformational power of education.

Are you interested in joining like-minded community members and educators who are committed to providing a unique and transformational educational experience to young people in our community?

Why Nativity?

Nativity Academy is an independent Catholic middle school that, since 2003, has served young people who demonstrate academic potential and whose families are experiencing financial need.

If you believe in the transformational power of a Catholic education and are committed to working with students and families who want to elevate their circumstances through hard work and education, then we encourage you to contact us to find out more information. We might be exactly what you were looking for when you decided to become a teacher.

What makes Nativity unique?

- Single gender classes that average 12 students
- $40,000 minimum beginning salary and competitive benefit packages
- $1,000 signing bonus
- Independence—meaning you have autonomy to work with your colleagues to develop curriculum and instruction backwards from our vision for students instead of a high stakes state accountability test.
- As a member of the Nativity Miguel Coalition of schools, we offer an extended school day, extended school year, Catholic education and graduate support services.

Teaching is a calling. Are you ready to answer?

Interested in learning more?

Contact: teaching@nativityacademy.org